

Transformational Living Application Process

Family Enrollment Process

Families being considered for participation in our program will meet with Ark staff members three times during the enrollment process. These meetings allow both the family and our organization to determine whether the program is a good fit and whether the family is ready to commit to the journey toward greater stability and self-sufficiency.

First Meeting – Initial Intake and Introduction

During the first meeting, we complete an initial intake, explain the purpose and expectations of the program, and begin building a relationship with the family. We seek to understand their current circumstances and the events that have led them to this point in their lives.

At the conclusion of the meeting, we pray with the family and encourage them to reflect on our conversation, the program requirements, and whether they believe the program will be a good fit for their needs and goals. If we determine that the family may be a good fit for the program, we will contact them to schedule a second meeting.

Second Meeting – Assessment and Program Review

The second meeting involves a more comprehensive intake and provides an opportunity to learn more about the family's strengths, challenges, and goals. We review the program Covenant in detail and discuss the commitments and expectations associated with participation.

Families are encouraged to ask questions and seek clarification regarding any aspect of the Covenant or the program.

Third Meeting – Program Acceptance and Commitment

By the third meeting, the family has been notified that an opening is available and that they have been selected for participation in the program. During this meeting, we review the Covenant Checklist to ensure that all program expectations, guidelines, and commitments are clearly understood.

The family is given an opportunity to ask any final questions before confirming their agreement to participate in the program and uphold the Covenant.
